Bi-annual maintenance on the system**

*The average life expectancy on heating and air conditioning equipment is 10-15 years depending on the type of equipment and frequency of use. The Happy for Life warranty provides coverage for 15 years to the original owner and is non-transferable. Hiller Plumbing, Heating and Cooling reserves the right to classify any equipment covered by the Happy for Life Warranty as “beyond repair” should a system become unfeasible to repair. In the unlikely event that this should take place, any and all repairs shall not be made and $80 for every year since original install date shall be credited towards the replacement system installed by Hiller.

**Maintenance must be performed by Hiller Plumbing, Heating and Cooling to keep the Happy For Life warranty in effect. If maintenance is discontinued for any reason, the warranty shall become null and void. Equipment warranty shall revert to Hiller standard warranty. Maintenance can be performed in conjunction with service calls.

NOTE: As refrigerants change and efficiencies improve, it is inevitable that technological developments may make any and all current equipment obsolete. In such cases, $80 for every year since install date shall be credited towards a replacement unit installed by Hiller.
